This series of books has been designed to stimulate talking and language development in young children.

Many of the pictures show things which the child will already know but several of the things he may not know. These will all provide topics for discussion and the opportunity for the child to learn something new.

If an adult looks at the books with the child and talks about the pictures, the value of the books will be increased. However, each book in the series is a delightful and interesting picture book in itself for every child.

When using the alphabet book it is best to follow standard pronunciation i.e. to say 'a' as it sounds in the word axe and not as it sounds in the word able and so on as given below:
